rally and in the afternoon was leader in another mysterious decline that unsettled the list and wiped out most of the gains of the early trading. The market broadened, but the broadening was due to an extension of the selling movement into more of the inactive issues.

Odd lots buying was in evidence and although the small investors took many thousand shares, the liquidation of large blocks was so persistent as to counteract the good influence of this buying. A single block of 2,600 shares of Union Pacific was sold at one transaction and one block of 6,600 shares of Steel. The close was irregular, active, and weak.

Strength in the early part of the day was due to a report that the Union Pacific sallroad Company would issue a statement late in the day explaining the mystery, but it did contain an admission that addied to the mystery. Although the Union Pacific state—the part of the day was sold at one transaction and the strength of the general good of the whole world, it would seem that the more cotton that could be raised the better it would be for the world, but as 50 per cent of America's cotton crop is exported in this attack by the lisbor troubles in England and the strength of the grain markets. WASHINGTON STOCK MARKET.

There was dangerously near to "nothing doing" on the local exchange yes-terday. Twenty-five shares of stock and $1,000 worth of bonds formed the aggre-gate of the day's transactions. It was by far the dullest day of the summer.

More brokers are out of town now than there have been at any previous time this sea-son, and the number of absentees is ex-pected to increase rather than diminish from now on until early in September.

Two Bond Transactions.

Two $500 bonds constituted the entire ty in the bond list yesterday. A bond sold at 110, and a Traction 5

COTTON MARKET.

bers of the New York Stock Esthange, Hittos Building.

New York, Aug. II.—The cotton market was narnew and fecturaless to-day. Trading was restricted to small operations and confined to local traders. The English market was upset by labor difficulties, and some good rains over northeast and north central Twass discoveraged the built element.

Grop discussion, while rather more favorable to a good yield as a result of recent rains, was not conclusive and the market indicated hesitation on the part of the built and fear on the part of the bears to extend commitments.

There were reports current that Baglish spinners

There were reports current that English spinners had canceled their orders to buy cotton in the South pending the settlement of the labor question. Also that stoamers were refrashe cotton and other freight for Liverpool, Early in the day the market was steadier on the suspension of the strike order in Liverpool, Late in the afternoon, however, it became hower that general railroad strikes had been ordered throughout the United Kingdem and the market became sluggish and duil. Manchester cabled yarms quiet and steady; cloths quiet. Spot sales of 2.00 hales were reported from Liverpool to-day at one point decline. The market for spot cotton was englented at 8.7M for middling.
